

Prof Dr Selçuk PEKER

Dr. Peker received his medical degree from the Hacettepe University and graduated from the Hacettepe University Neurosurgery Residency program in 1993. After working in some clinics in Ankara, Alanya and İstanbul, Dr. Peker joined the faculty of the Department of Neurological Surgery at the Marmara University in May 1999 and later was named as chief of Stereotactic and Functional Neurosurgery section. He did his gamma knife radiosurgery fellowship in University of Pittsburgh Medical Center and pain surgery and movement disorder surgery fellowship in Oregon Health Sciences University. Dr Peker joined the Acibadem Health Group in 2005. He has served as Professor of Neurosurgery in Acibadem University Department of Neurosurgery. He was the chief of Gamma Knife radiosurgery center and Movement Disorder Surgery program between 2005-2016.

He now works in Koç University Hospital in Istanbul.

His work in stereotactic radiosurgery spans the breadth of that field including studies in cerebral vascular malformations, benign and malignant brain tumors, trigeminal neuralgia, epilepsy, and movement disorders.

Dr. Peker has published 120 articles in refereed journals.

Dr Peker was the president of Neurooncology Education and Research Group of Turkish Neurosurgical Society. He is currently serving as Secretary of Turkish Neurosurgical Society.